Bloomquist, Chen, DeJesus, Greinke, Hochevar, Jacobs, and Wright to provide Kansas City-area children with a memorable day at the ballpark

Kansas City, MO — Prior to today's game at Kauffman Stadium in Kansas City, Royals players Willie Bloomquist, Bruce Chen, David DeJesus, Zack Greinke, Luke Hochevar, Mike Jacobs and Jamey Wright will provide everlasting memories to a group of children from the Concord Fortress of Hope Church in Kansas City, as the Major League Baseball Players Trust's "Buses for Baseball" program motors into Missouri.

Courtesy of the players' charitable foundation, the children will receive round-trip transportation to the game, meet the players, and receive free tickets, food, beverages and souvenirs. "Buses for Baseball" will provide many of the children with their first chance to attend a Major League Baseball game.

This season, "Buses for Baseball," a program administered by the Players Trust and underwritten by Majestic Athletic, a division of VF Imagewear, Inc., will provide transportation and personal greetings for more than 1,500 underprivileged children attending Major League Baseball games as invited guests of their big league heroes.

The Players Trust enjoys support from the Kansas City Royals organization and First Student Transportation in providing this unique, up close and personal opportunity to share the thrill of Major League Baseball with those less fortunate.

About the Major League Baseball Players Trust

The members of the Major League Baseball Players Association created the Players Trust, a 501(c)(3) charitable foundation, to provide resources of caring to those in need by volunteering in causes close to their hearts and encouraging others to do the same. The foundation became the first of its kind in professional sports established and administered by the players.
